2016 ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC MEETING

Jeffrey R. Marcus, M.D.
President NCSPS

NOVEMBER 10-13, 2016: SAVE THE DATE!
Conjoint North Carolina and
South Carolina Meeting

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Society of Plastic Surgeons will be held in Charleston, South Carolina at the picturesque Charleston Place Hotel. This remarkable venue will be host to our gathering, and we are delighted to have the members of the South Carolina Society of Plastic Surgeons to serve as our local hosts. The setting provided us with a rare opportunity to come together for a joint meeting to share in the academic program and social events. Dr. Michael Orseck, President of the South Carolina Society, will be working with us to create an exceptional program. The format will follow the traditional framework of the NCSPS annual meeting, and will feature a number of exceptional guest lecturers. Already committed to the event are:

Dr. William Adams - ASAPS visiting professor
Dr. Rollin Daniel - The Rhinoplasty Society visiting professor and Dr. Julius Few - Invited guest lecturer

Given the beautiful fall destination, we anticipate additional guest participants will be added in the months to come. In addition, we plan for an array of panels, member papers, and as always - the resident paper competition. This year, the residents from the South Carolina programs will be invited to participate in the competition. There will be opportunities for family fun in Charleston, which has many areas to explore, activities, and phenomenal restaurants. We will keep you posted with updates to the program, as well as the annual call for abstracts.

Members are encouraged to submit abstracts and to contact us with any interest in participating in panels or topics. You may submit abstracts or questions to Susan Russell at srussell@hdplanit.com

Mark your calendars! We look forward to seeing you all at this exciting meeting in historic Charleston!

HELLO, AND GREETINGS FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

We are very excited to combine the NCSPS and the SCSPS into one meeting this year. A combined meeting allows both societies to benefit from one another. No other specialty benefits more from collegial relationships. Some of the most rewarding conversations have started with "So, how do you manage this..."

The meeting will be held at the beautiful Belmond Charleston Place Hotel, centrally located in the culinary and cultural hub of the Southeast.

The program is shaping up to be one of the best we have had in years. As your local host and SCSPS President, I look forward to meeting all of you.

See you in November!

Michael Orseck, MD

USING OUR MOST VALUABLE ASSETS TO ADD MORE VALUE

The North Carolina Society of Plastic Surgeons needs your help! Our State Society is gaining strength and we would like to keep this momentum going. We are asking our members to help with recruiting new members to join us. Specifically, I am asking that you help us recruit One, Just One, new member.

As you know, nothing means more than the valued word of a trusted colleague. Please consider reaching out to just one person, either new to practice or a seasoned veteran, and inviting them to join our society.

Here's what we have to offer:

- Our Board is Comprised of Young Energetic Leaders
- Low Membership Dues
- High Quality Educational Annual Meetings
- CME Credits for NCSPS Sponsored Meetings
- No Dues for Life Members
- Quarterly Newsletters

The application process is easy and applications may be found on our website at www.NCSPS.com or by calling the Society office at (435)200-8272.
